Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Non-Final Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 4-6, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 2, it appears that "A door" should be "The door" to provide proper antecedent basis.

Claims 4-6, it appears that "An intermediate" should be "The intermediate" to provide proper antecedent basis.

Claims 4-6, claims cannot depend on themselves.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Koa et al. (6,412,852).

Regarding claims 1-2, Koa et al. (6,412,852) discloses in Fig. 1-8 the invention as claimed to include a door 10 assembly comprising: a door frame 13 having an outer door panel 11; a trim pad 20 having an inboard surface, said trim pad fixedly secured to said door frame and defining an interior space 15 between said trim pad and said outer door panel; and an intermediate barrier 35 fixedly secured to said door frame between said outer door panel and said trim pad, said intermediate barrier having a side impact portion and a water-impervious outboard surface 36 defining a periphery thereabout; a seal 45 extending about said periphery of said water-impervious outboard surface of said intermediate barrier to create a seal preventing water that is collected by said door assembly from traveling past said intermediate barrier to said trim pad.

3. Claims 3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Koa et al. (6,412,852).

Regarding claims 3-6, Koa et al. (6,412,852) discloses in Fig. 1-8 the invention as claimed to include an intermediate barrier article 35 fixedly securable within a door 10 assembly, said intermediate barrier article comprising: a panel of water-impervious material 36 to prevent water collected by the door assembly from moving therepast; and a side impact portion 51 disposed within said panel of water-impervious material to aid in the absorption of energy received from a side impact; wherein said energy absorbing foam includes a urethane and an impact resistant styrene; wherein components of the door assembly are fixedly secured thereto; and including an aperture 24 allowing one of the components of the door assembly to extend therethrough.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record in attached Notice of Reference Cited (PTO-892) and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. This art of record shows various features similar to the applicant's invention.
